TYRACY OF ONIONS IN COUGHS.—A writer of our agricultural exchanges says that farmers are troubled often with severe coughs, the result of colds of long standing, which turn to consumption or premature death. Coughs cause sleepless nights by their irritation in the throat, and a strong effort to throw off offensive matter from the throat. The remedy I propose has been tried with good results, which is simply to turn the stomach, before retiring at night, a piece of raw onion, after chewing it resolute in an uncooked state is vegetable, and collects the water from the throat, causing immediate relief and permanent.

One has great change as his "the first." The one has laid waste moral principles and the habits, the other will restore them. The young man who knows and studies his own interest, will wheel into line as speedily as possible and take up the line of march to respectability. Those rich lands at Plainfield, Buckeye, Cottonwood, and all along the foot-hills, should be sought for as something of great value, which they undoubtedly are. There is no reason why land should be from five to ten times as high in this lower country as in the Sacramento Valley, other than the vain desire to live near the great

YOLO COUNTY DEMOCRAT.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 11, 1893.

Too Bad.—The Sacramento Union has been most terribly insulted by the recent advertisement in its columns of a present from "one James H. Hammel, of New Orleans, who is the publisher of a steel plate engraving of the late rebel and traitor, General Albert Sydney Johnston." The presentation of this engraving, the Union says, is "in execrable taste," and under this caption devotes nearly a column to slanderous vilification of the dead, and the relation of a cock and bull story about "a part of the unwritten history of this State" which, were it not for the "execrable taste" displayed in attempting to blacken the character of the dead, would excite only a sense of mythical ridicule in the mind of every intelligent school-boy in the State. That General Johnston, while enjoying the reputation of his many virtues, may have had faults, and grievous ones, too, that his action in the late war may have been a crime, are questions which crimination and recrimination will never settle, but which must be set at rest by the considerate judgment of an unprejudiced people, and finally adjudicated by an All-wise Being. But that an attempt, in disregard of truth, to cloud with infamy the name of the dead, is a social and moral evil, no honest man can fail to determine without a moment's hesitation.

STATE CAPITOL.—A bill has been introduced in the Legislature providing for the removal and permanent location of the State Capitol. Permanent location!—there's the rub. But it must be removed, for the agitators have "got it on the brain" and somebody's local interests will suffer if the capitol is allowed to remain where it now is. Possibly it may have to be removed more than once before the agitation ceases. But, no difference; start it on the tramp. It is true that Sacramento has withstood the flood and stands above high-water mark; but then it is equally true that other "permanent locations" have not lost their foundations by the action of earthquakes and other "little jokers," so pass it around. The State has only about three-quarters of a million invested in the caravansary where it now stands, but "that's only a mere bagatelle," and besides, the people will have to foot the bill. The fact is, local interests must not be disregarded. We must have a "permanent location," with movable corner lots to suit. Send it along!

"COPPERHEAD."—This term, which but recently was intended to convey an idea of Radical vehemence in their zealous vituperation of everything Democratic, has at last become a harmless, obsolete weapon. The use of all opprobrious epithets, instead of well-meaning argument, falls short of its desired effect in the political as well as religious world; and those who engage in that kind of warfare are sure to feel the sting of the poison prepared for their opponents. In the language of Hon. Thomas Ewing: "Copperhead is now understood to be a flash term, and to mean one who is not a Radical—one who thinks the Constitution still worth restoring and preserving, and of more efficacy than the most solemn Radical platform." Wherever the term has been applied most vehemently to Democrats, large Democratic gains have been the result,—a fact clearly demonstrated by the returns of all recent elections. Our Radical friends are perfectly at liberty to continue the use of the term without having their letters patent disputed.

Who Can Tell?—The Metropolitan Record, in speaking of the election of Parson Brownlow to the United States Senate, says:

Brownlow will succeed the President's son-in-law, Patterson, as United States Senator in 1893. After a short but not sweet struggle in the Tennessee Legislature, he was elected Senator over Colonel Stokes by a majority of twenty-four. Tennessee should not feel very bad over this calamity. It is not an unnamed evil. It was simply a question whether Brownlow should be the perpetual Governor of Tennessee or a United States Senator. He has got the Senatorship, which he cannot make a one-man power, and Tennessee should not weep. It may be a dreadful disgrace to the United States, but it is rather fortunate for Tennessee. Besides who can tell how soon the ex-panther may be called down to the Lower House?

PUBLIC OFFICERS INDICTED.—We learn from a reliable source that the United States Grand Jury has resolved to present indictments against one or two United States officials for demanding and receiving exorbitant and illegal fees. These indictments will be filed within a few days, and then the whole affair will be made public, but at the present time it would be premature to more than allude to the matter. In this connection we may say that the matter has been placed in the hands of certain attorneys, who will immediately commence suit against the officials to recover the sums illegally obtained. [Morning Call.]

A MURDERER'S EVENT is thus recorded by a western editor who probably survived the effort:

Yesterday morning, at four o'clock P. M., a man with a head in the hole of his stocking, committed suicide by swallowing a dose of strychnine. The inquest of the verdict returned a jury that the deceased came to the facts in accordance with his death. He leaves a child and six small wives to lament the end of his untimely loss. In death we are in the midst of life.

A TRUTH.—Men sometimes go down into tombs, with painful longings to behold once more the faces of their departed friends; and as they gaze upon them, lying there so peacefully with the semblance that they were on earth, the sweet breath of heaven touches them, and the features crumple and fall together, and are but dust.

THANKS.—We are indebted to Hon. John M. Kelly, of the Assembly, for valuable public documents.

PRIZE FIGHTING AND THE PRESS.—Another free advertisement of a disgraceful performance is just now going the rounds of the California papers announcing the fact that Billy Dwyer, the pugilist, has arrived from the East to fight Tom Chandler for two thousand dollars. We hold that it is the duty of all respectable journals to give no publicity to these brutal encounters without, at the same time, denouncing their immoral tendencies in the severest terms. If the plain and positive provisions of the law cannot be executed in preventing these demons in human shape from outraging a sense of public justice and morality, let not the press of a Christian people assist them by its indifference, in ensuring the youth of our country in the meshes of their pernicious influence. After every exhibition of inhuman barbarity in "the ring," one may easily observe its effects upon the mind of the young, who greedily devour every item in the sickening details of "rounds," which are published in a portion, at least, of the public press, with all the slang terms and phrases used in this "manly art." God save the mark! The enduring brutality of the contestants, while engaged for hours in beating and bruising the flesh of each other into shapeless masses, is called "pluck;" and these perversions of terms and truth, found in public print, furnish a tempting bait to the unguarded youth who thirsts for a reputation for bravery. Whole columns, and even pages of the press, are sometimes devoted to the history, character and description of outlaws and their encounters, without even so much as one word in condemnation of hellish deeds that should mantle the cheek of every American with a blush of shame. On the contrary, this evil is not unfrequently treated of as a matter of public interest, and occasionally, as in the case of Heenan and Sayers, a national importance is attached to the consummation of a brutal outrage. Is it then a subject of surprise that benches in our public schools remain vacant while the "boys," in training for lawless deeds, are furnishing items, under the head of "rowdiness," in the local columns of the public press?

ROOFING.—The question in regard to the kind of roofing best adapted to our long, dry and hot seasons in Summer, and the driving rains of Winter, has of late been thoroughly discussed; but it appears that no remedy for leakage and rapid decay of materials has been devised that is calculated to supersede the old method of shingle covering, which, of course, cannot be applied to the modern style of flat roofs. Asphaltum, tin and felt have each, in a multitude of instances, failed to stand the severe tests of our climate, even when applied with the most careful and efficient mechanical skill. A good chance presents itself for some enterprising genius to make a large fortune by turning his attention to the invention of some new process of roofing which will prove more durable and effectual than any now in use. We copy the following article on this subject from the Folsom Telegraph:

In Folsom, there is a mill that has been engaged since last Spring in grinding a peculiar kind of slate, that, when mixed with coal tar and other ingredients and properly applied, answers every purpose, and makes a water-tight roof. It has been used on the buildings and bridges of the Pacific Railroad Company, and upon a number of buildings in this town and also in Sacramento, 1866, more than half the districts levied this "Trustee Tax," as some facetiously called it, and although the amount really required to keep the schools open five months, was in a measure small, yet when they struck from the roll fifteen per cent, for anticipated delinquencies, and added to it for assessing, collecting and contingent expenses, it was found to be necessary to raise from thirty-two to forty-five cents on each one hundred dollars valuation in the district, and this to keep only a five months' school. One reason why this tax was not levied in twenty out of thirty-three school districts in 1867, is this: The State did not pay the interest on the State School Fund in July, 1867, but paid it in February, 1867, with the interest of 1866, giving us in February, 1867, three half years' interest, or the equivalent interest of one and a half years, which enabled Trustees generally to run the schools five months during the past year, without having recourse to Section 102. This year we will have but one year's interest from the State—perhaps two-thirds of what we had last year—and Trustees must levy under section 102, in most of our districts.

Now, if ten cents additional be added to our present county tax, it will enable nearly every district in the county to keep the full five months, and those that can now keep five can then keep seven, thus actually decreasing taxation for the great majority of people, and increasing the utility of the schools. I have heard of a remonstrance against this tax, but cannot believe that any man who has given the subject ten minutes' consideration will ever put his name to anything that might have the effect of depriving the children of the poorer classes of a fair education.

No one feels the weight of the present rate of taxation, for all purposes, more than I do, and no one has to "rake and scrape" harder, and more unceasingly, to get a bare living and pay taxes; but life would have few charms were I forced to see my children grow up in comparative ignorance, to be turned out upon society, unable to compete successfully with those better educated, or perhaps to be supported in work-houses or prisons by a taxation twenty-fold greater than would have been done to make them intelligent and useful citizens. Feeling thus, regarding the dangers which beset my own children, selfish, mean and contemptible would I consider myself could I not extend this feeling to the children of the community.

FLOOD IN SAN JOAQUIN COUNTY.—The Stockton Independent of January 4th says: It is reported that on Thursday last, the water in the Mokelumne and Stanislaus rivers was higher than in the Winter of 1864-2. One end of Letch & Cottle's ferry, on the latter river, broke away. Walker's ferry was carried away. A barn near Litch's old ferry, that stood the flood of '62, was carried away on the same day. The Mokelumne overflowed its banks in many places and inundated a large extent of the low lands adjacent to the bed of the stream. But little damage was done along the line of the latter. The Calaveras was likewise very high; but the work done in clearing out the snags and rubbish from the bed of the stream near the Fifteen-Mile House, answered a good purpose in preventing an overflow in that neighborhood. A large area of land, however, between Cherokee Lane and the Sacramento lower road has been covered with water several days. Yesterday the slough along the south side of McCloud's land and north of the Asylum grounds contained a heavy body of water and caused considerable damage in washing away the earth near the end of a bridge on the road to the Rural Cemetery. The water in Mormon slough, below Centre street bridge, also Stockton slough, rose over a foot yesterday. This was altogether occasioned by back water from the San Joaquin.

HERE is the advice of a newly married editor before the cry of "copy" begins: Buy an acre or two of ground, fence it, build a neat cottage on it, marry an angel in hoops, balmoral skirt and jockey hat; take her to the cottage yourself, abstain from villainous drink, live upright before God and man; work for your money. Do all this, and you will come as near gaining all the original happiness that survived the fall of Adam, as is possible for ordinary mortals.

YEAR BOOK OF FACTS.—We have received from the Compiler, Henry C. Langley, a copy of the Pacific Coast Almanac and Year Book of Facts, for 1893, containing a complete chronological history of events of the past year, valuable official information, statistics, etc.

For the "Democrat."

The School Tax Question.
EDITOR DEMOCRAT: As the subject of a school tax is now before the people of this county, I trust you will permit me to express a few thoughts upon it, through the columns of your paper. There are petitions in the hands of School Trustees and others, asking the Board of Supervisors to increase the county school tax ten cents on each one hundred dollars valuation, or making the tax thirty-five cents instead of twenty-five, which it now is. I think this should be done for several reasons, the chief one being based upon the almost universally adopted principle that the property of the State should educate the children of the State. This principle has been gaining favor so rapidly, even with the wealthier class of our citizens, who might educate their own children much cheaper without a tax, that it has been easier to induce Supervisors in the various counties of the State, during the past four years, to make the school tax thirty-five cents—the most the law permits—than it was previously to get them to make it ten cents. I believe that nearly all the counties of the State have raised the school tax to the maximum allowed by law—not alone as a matter of benevolence and right, but as one of economy and pride.

It would indeed be surprising if the prosperous county of Yolo shall remain behind her sisters by refusing this little prayed-for boon to the children of the poorer classes of our citizens, who cannot educate their children in private schools. With the twenty-five cent tax we are now enabled to keep an average of five months' school each year. Experience proves that children in school five, and out seven months each year, will advance very slowly and with difficulty, as their minds in so short a school term barely get well disciplined, and having seven months to forget what they learned in five, they start to school the next year but little in advance of where they were the last. Thus it is that we find children from twelve to sixteen years of age in our midst no better scholars than they might and ought to be at nine and twelve years. Hence, we find many young men, whose labor is necessary to the proper development of our agricultural resources, attending schools—learning that which they should have learned when they were unable to labor, could they have attended school even seven months each year. If the present tax keeps the schools open five months, of course a thirty-five cent tax will run them seven months.

There is yet another reason—a purely selfish one—why this school tax should be levied. I contend that it is a matter of economy. It is much cheaper to have a school tax assessed by the District Assessor when he assesses his District, than to employ a special Assessor for a single District. So it is much cheaper to have this tax collected with other taxes, at one or one-half per cent commission for collecting, than it is to give a special Collector from ten to twenty per cent, as has been done during the past two years and will be again, if the prayer in this petition be not granted. Section 102, of the School Law, makes it the duty of School Trustees to levy a direct tax upon the property in their Districts; whenever the State and county school money is insufficient to keep a free school five months each year. Some with whom I have conversed confound this section with section 18, which requires Trustees to submit the question of tax or no tax to a vote of the people in the district. In 1866, more than half the districts levied this "Trustee Tax," as some facetiously called it, and although the amount really required to keep the schools open five months, was in a measure small, yet when they struck from the roll fifteen per cent, for anticipated delinquencies, and added to it for assessing, collecting and contingent expenses, it was found to be necessary to raise from thirty-two to forty-five cents on each one hundred dollars valuation in the district, and this to keep only a five months' school. One reason why this tax was not levied in twenty out of thirty-three school districts in 1867, is this: The State did not pay the interest on the State School Fund in July, 1867, but paid it in February, 1867, with the interest of 1866, giving us in February, 1867, three half years' interest, or the equivalent interest of one and a half years, which enabled Trustees generally to run the schools five months during the past year, without having recourse to Section 102. This year we will have but one year's interest from the State—perhaps two-thirds of what we had last year—and Trustees must levy under section 102, in most of our districts.

Now, if ten cents additional be added to our present county tax, it will enable nearly every district in the county to keep the full five months, and those that can now keep five can then keep seven, thus actually decreasing taxation for the great majority of people, and increasing the utility of the schools. I have heard of a remonstrance against this tax, but cannot believe that any man who has given the subject ten minutes' consideration will ever put his name to anything that might have the effect of depriving the children of the poorer classes of a fair education.

No one feels the weight of the present rate of taxation, for all purposes, more than I do, and no one has to "rake and scrape" harder, and more unceasingly, to get a bare living and pay taxes; but life would have few charms were I forced to see my children grow up in comparative ignorance, to be turned out upon society, unable to compete successfully with those better educated, or perhaps to be supported in work-houses or prisons by a taxation twenty-fold greater than would have been done to make them intelligent and useful citizens. Feeling thus, regarding the dangers which beset my own children, selfish, mean and contemptible would I consider myself could I not extend this feeling to the children of the community.

TOWN AND COUNTY MATTERS.

I.O.O.F. INSTALLATION.—On Saturday evening last the following named persons were installed as officers of Woodland Lodge No. 111, for the ensuing term: A. J. Hall, N.G.; Adam Spiner, V.G.; D. M. Burns, R.S.; G. J. Overholser, T.G.; A. S. Armstrong, W.; John Pendegast, Con.; H. C. Grover, R.S.N.G.; Q. V. Day, L.S.N.G.; L. Deitz, R.S.V.G.; Joseph Hopkins, L.S.V.G.; H. D. Connell, R.S.S.; Dan. Fisher, L.S.S.; J. W. Tilly, L.G.; Theo. Demming, O.G. The installation was conducted by J. S. Friend, D.D.G.M., assisted by Past Grand P. Franklin (sign of the "big Injun"), and James E. Smith, of Sacramento. After the interesting ceremonies at the Lodge, the Woodland members accompanied their friends to Baker's Hotel, where the landlord, A. S. House, had prepared a supper which received and richly merited the compliments of the "Brethren of the Mystic Tie." Goblets of sparkling wine were passed around the festive board, toasts were drunk, "Friendship, Love and Truth" abounded in the halo of wit and joyous mirth that prevailed during the evening, and it was not until a late hour that the happy company retired, with pleasant remembrances of the entertainment.

WEEKLY RESCUE.—The organ of the Good Templars and other temperance associations on the Pacific coast, published semi-monthly at Sacramento, and ably edited by William H. Mills, G.W.S. of I.O.G.T., is to be changed, February 1st, into a weekly paper. It will continue, as heretofore, to wield its potent influence in the advocacy of temperance principles and in other respects devote its energies to the religious, moral and social improvement of mankind. The Woodland Lodge of Good Templars, which claims the honor of the "banner," can advance the interests of the organization in no more effectual manner than by securing in this vicinity a liberal amount of patronage to the Weekly Rescue.

ROCKING CHAIRS.—We have been informed several times recently of the fact that a number of disorderly boys are in the habit, under cover of night, of throwing stones at the windows and houses of Chinamen. Boys, we advise you to change your course of conduct in this respect. There is a law which protects all alike from such acts of violence, and you would do well to observe that law before you are made to feel its penalty.

COURT CASES.—The court convened January 6th, 1908. Present—M. A. Woods, Judge; William Mills, Sheriff; H. G. Burnett, District Attorney; E. G. Giddings, Clerk. The People vs. Ah. Fung. In this case, important witnesses being absent and being detained on account of illness, and this being the principal matter to be presented to the Grand Jury, it was ordered that the Grand Jurors be discharged for the term, and that the case be submitted to the next Grand Jury.

THE WEATHER.—Old Boreas has sent us a cold snap of nearly a week's duration, and at the present writing we are enjoying a continuation of the same, while the thermometer on the "outer wall" denotes indications that remind one of the winter climate on the prairies of Illinois, where a demand for "woolen overcoats" sometimes is created by a similar temperature of the atmosphere.

WEDDING.—The marriage of Carlton C. Scott and Mrs. Myra A. Burton took place at the E. Church, on Sunday last, after the morning services. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. Curry, in the presence of a large crowd that manifested its pleasure in witnessing the exercises by wishing "much joy" to the happy couple.

PROBATE COURT.—In estate of Israel Sloan, deceased, ordered that annual account be approved and settled. Order confirming sale of real estate of F. Boschling, deceased; report of Referee confirmed; account allowed and declared settled. Adjudged till Monday, 13th instant.

QUARTERLY MEETING.—The Second Quarterly Meeting of the M. E. Church, in this place, commenced last evening and will continue over Sabbath. Rev. J. B. Hill is expected to be present. There will be no Sabbath School at this Church to-morrow.

NEW HARDWARE STORE.—Gray & Freeman are opening a hardware establishment in Morin's new brick building, where they intend to keep on hand a complete stock of hardware, cutlery, agricultural implements, etc., etc. Call and see them.

CORRESPONDENCE.—We call the attention of our readers to an interesting letter on the first page of to-day's paper from "M," a fluent writer and close observer, now traveling in the lower country.

JUDGE M. A. WOODS.—This new county officer entered upon his official duties last Monday, in the County Court, but was called home in the afternoon of the same day by the sad news of the death of his youngest child.

GRAND PROSPECT.—H. U. Ogburn has just fitted up his new brick store with a splendid assortment of stores and tin ware, and he is just the man to suit his customers in quality and price. "Long may she wave."

PRESENT.—We are indebted to a Democratic lady for a nice present, this week, which beautifully illustrates the "croaking" of the defeated Radicals in this State.

HESPERIAN COLLEGE.—The second session of the present term of this institution commenced on Monday last, with 107 names on the roll.

The Board of Supervisors will meet on Monday next.

NEW COUNTY JUDGE.—We copy from the Santa Cruz Sentinel the following merited compliment to our former townsman, Albert Hagan, who was elected last October to the position of County Judge in Santa Cruz county:

On Wednesday last Mr. Albert Hagan, County Judge elect, assumed the position to which he had been called by the sovereign voters of Santa Cruz county, for the term of four years. We believe the new Judge will ably fill the position, with dignity and impartial justice to all, alike serviceable to the best interests of the people and the county, and an exponent of the law, and a kind and considerate official. Our regrets in parting with him; however, are somewhat appeased with a knowledge of the fact that one equally as competent, vigilant and faithful, has taken his place.

SUPREME JUDGE.—Royal T. Sprague the successful nominee of the Democratic party for the position of Supreme Judge, and whose reputation for integrity of character and undoubted ability has secured to himself a wide circle of friends, is thus spoken of by the Red Bluff Sentinel:

Royal T. Sprague, Esq., arrived in town, yesterday, en route for the Capital, where the Democracy have provided him with comfortable quarters for the next ten years. No gentleman in the State stands higher in the estimation of the public than Judge Sprague, and his advent to the Bench, will be accompanied with a high order of talent and unimpeachable integrity.

THICK.—An exchange says the number of Presidential aspirants are getting to be about as thick as lice on a cabbage leaf. The nomination and election of such a character as Lincoln, has given a terrible itching for the same place. In respectability the office of justice of the peace was actually greater in this country fifty years ago than that of President now is.

MARRIED.

In Woodland, January 5th, by Rev. W. C. Curry, C. C. Scott and Mrs. M. A. Burnett. [The compliment to the printer, usually accompanying these pleasurable episodes, was not forgotten in this instance; the DEMOCRAT force was kindly remembered with a beautiful supply of nice things, for which we return thanks and wish the happy pair may be soot-free from all cares in their wedded life.]

DIED.

At Buckeye, Yolo county, December 25th, HARRY W., infant son of Levi and Mary F. Morris, aged 5 months and 10 days. (Quincy Union please copy.)

Near Cottonwood, Yolo county, January 6th, FRANK L., infant son of Judge M. A. Woods, aged 10 months.
